Proportional Representation

—No. 3

Having in preceding articles referred to the inequalities in representation in our public bodies which result from our present system of election, and the methods which are proposed by Proportional Representation for overcoming these inequalities, it is now proposed to cite a few examples of results achieved where P.R. has been put into practice.

In the last British election, seven of the English universities were combined into one constituency electing two members, and the election was conducted under the P.R. method. Four candidates were nominated for the two seats. When the ballots were counted it was found that the first preferences had been recorded as follows: Fisher, 929; Hobson, 360; Williams, 360; Connolly, 303—a total of 1,944.

With a total vote polled of 1,944, and with two candidates to be elected, the necessary quota to secure election would be arrived at by dividing 1,944 by three and adding one. This gives a quota of 665. Mr. Fisher, having polled 929 votes, was declared elected, and his surplus of votes over 665, namely, 294, was then distributed according to the second preferences indicated thereon. More than half, 162, fell to Connolly, 88 to Hobson and 44 to Williams. The position of the candidate at the conclusion of the transfer was Fisher, 665 (elected); Connolly, 465; Hobson, 494; Williams, 410.

While one candidate was elected, not one of the other three had obtained a quota. The lowest on the poll, Williams, with 410 votes, was accordingly declared defeated, and his votes transferred. As many as 312 fell to Connolly, thus bringing his total above the quota, and he was accordingly elected. Thus under P.R., a man who was at the foot of the poll on the first count was actually elected because he was a strong favorite as a second choice candidate.

An election under the Proportional Representation system which has attracted widespread attention was the municipal election in Sligo, Ireland, whereby the first transfer of votes to the United Kingdom to be chosen by the new method was selected. In that election 24 candidates were elected, eight from each of three wards. Four groups of candidates were in the first representing the Ratepayers' Association, Sinn Féin, Labor and Independents. The following table gives a summary of the final result, and recalls the fact that each group obtained representation in the council in proportion to their voting strength.

Parties	First Pref.	First Pref. Votes	Obtained Seats	Proportion Seats
Ratepayers	523	894	8	8
Sinn Féin	524	738	7	7
Labor	432	470	5	5
Independents	279	303	4	4
Totals	2,288	2,400	24	24

It is thus shown that all groups of citizens obtained representation, and that, if allowance is made for cross voting between the wards, they obtained representation in proportion to their numbers. Further, in all cases the electors had the final word in deciding which of the nominees of the various parties should be returned. The objects of P.R. being to secure freedom of choice in voting and justice in representation, these were secured by the single transferable vote.

Prior to this election in Sligo, as in so many other places, many of the more heavily-taxed citizens found themselves out-voted. After some time, they ceased to try to obtain representation. They were compelled to be content with criticizing the powers of the council from outside, and much of their criticism was justified, for, as is often the case when the composition of the council is not a high order, the corporation, however, labored under difficulties. The powers of assessment and taxation were limited. It inherited a considerable debt. Burdens imposed by the council continued to increase. Eventually the crash came. The corporation was bankrupt. The streets were, for a time, neither repaired nor swept and the street lights were not lit. As a result, there sprang into existence a vigorous Ratepayers' Association, in which many members of the hitherto unrepresented minority took a prominent part. The ratepayers challenged the action of the council in striking a rate in excess of its powers. Finally, a new municipal charter was passed, giving the corporation unlimited powers of assessment and taxation, but providing for an early election under the proportional method. The result, indicated above, shows that the ratepayers through their association candidates have now obtained fair and proportionate representation on the council. Speaking of the election results, the newly-elected mayor says: "The elections recently conducted here under P.R. have given entire satisfaction to the people of Sligo, and under no circumstances would they be agreeable to go back to the old system." (Next week some objections to P.R. will be dealt with.)

A Labor Saving Combination

It's the fast straw that breaks the camel's back. So runs the old proverb. And it is the labor saving effort which tire you out on wash-day.

Eddy's
Indurated Fiberglass
Washtubs and Washboards

form a combination which save you much extra labor. Indurated Fiberglass tubs are much easier to fill and to move about. They keep the water hot for a much longer space of time, because they do not conduct heat as metal does. They are easier to clean, because they have no sharp corners without joint or seam, and the hard, glass surface is impervious to laundry stains. And they cost no more. Last longer, too. Eddy's Twin Beaver Washboard has a double rubbing surface of Indurated Fiberglass which loosens the dirt quickly and saves many tedious scrubbing motions.

Third Dose Relief! Fifth Dose! Diarrhoea Stopped.

Diarrhoea does not need to persist for any length of time until the whole system is weakened and debilitated. No other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a condition of prostration and very often fatal collapse.
Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not only promptly and effectually in checking the diarrhoea, but at the same time acts as a stimulant, strengthening the bowels and braces up the whole system, and one of its principal points is that it does not leave the bowels in a constipated condition.
Mr. W. H. Arnold, Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask., writes: "A few years ago I caught cold, and I had a severe attack of diarrhoea. Nothing I took seemed to do me any good, and I was getting worse all the time. Hearing that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry was good for diarrhoea, I went into town and procured a bottle. After the third dose I felt relief, and after I had taken the fifth dose the diarrhoea had stopped. I have kept it in the house, and would not be without it."
See that you get the original "Dr. Fowler's." It has been on the market for the past 74 years. Substitutes may endanger your health. Price 35c. Sent by post. The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

To Manufacture Briquettes

Lignite Board Locating $400,000 Plant to Make Cheap Fuel Immediately

Final decisions as to the location of the plant to manufacture briquettes from the lignite deposits in southeastern Saskatchewan and southwestern Manitoba will be made in the immediate future, stated R. A. Ross, chairman of the lignite utilization board, which held its first session in western Canada at Winnipeg recently.
Mr. Ross stated that the board would visit the lignite deposits and would go into the matter of the location of a $400,000 plant to be constructed under the direction of the board. Mr. Ross stated that it was the intention of the board to let the contracts for the construction and equipment of the plant during the coming winter, construction to commence as soon as possible, and if the plan of the board did not miscarry, the plant would be producing briquettes by August, 1923. The capacity of the plant would be 30,000 tons a year and briquettes would be turned over to the coal dealers in Winnipeg at approximately $9.40 a ton.
The briquettes would be made from coal supplied from the mines already in the district and the board would probably pay $1 a ton for this coal. If the coal was not available from the mines the board would mine its own coal.

Dependents Must Sail This Year

No Free Repatriation of Dependents After December

Headquarters has warned all men of the Canadian overseas forces on indefinite leave awaiting repatriation with dependents, to report immediately to the discharge agent at Boston. They are also notified that free repatriation for dependents will not be allowed after December 31, except where statutory declaration is made showing that it was impossible for those concerned to proceed to Canada before that date.

This does not refer to men who have taken discharge in the United Kingdom, therefore it does not affect men on whose behalf an appeal is now being made to the government for repatriation at the public expense.

The Salaried Man

Bill Introduced to Remove Restrictions as to Age

London, England.—An interesting paragraph in the August number of the International Woman Suffrage News stated that the Icelandic Government has introduced a bill into the Althing for the amendment of the Constitution in such a way as to give equal political suffrage for elections to all adults to all persons over 25 years, while 35 years is to be the qualifying age for electors of both sexes for elections to the Upper House. It is considered certain that this amendment will be passed, in which case the elections will take place in the spring. Four of the Icelandic women were enfranchised, subject to certain restrictions as to age, which the amendment bill now before the Althing will remove.

Strikers Announced By Lloyd George

LONDON.—Premier Lloyd George surprised his constituents, as he frequently does, by declaring that the women's strike as "frustration" and "another effort to hold up the community and strangle it into submission," at the Lord Mayor's Mansion House luncheon in honor of Field Marshal Allenby.

The occasion was an unusual one for such a topic, but the Premier has a habit of doing unusual things at unusual times. Near him sat Earl Fitzalan, son of the duke of the Hedjaz, in white robes, and the Archbishop of Canterbury with an array of aides-military and civilian notables, such as only London can muster on ceremonial occasions. They expected nothing more sensational than compliments to the conqueror of Palestine.

"The nation means to be master of her own house," Mr. Lloyd George declared, "a just master, a fair master, a generous master, but always master in her own house."

This was naturally interpreted as a proclamation of the Premier's view that the country won a victory over the strikers.

J. H. Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, and leader of the recent strike, speaking at Albert Hall, drew out the Premier of a compromise, and issued a statement appealing for reconciliation and a burial of land feeling.

Labor papers appear to differ with Mr. Thomas as to some aspects of the strike settlement. When Mr. Lloyd George, during the strike, speech, newspapers try to read between the lines to discover his political purpose. The general interpretation of this speech is that the Premier has broken with labor union and wants to draw to his support the middle classes, who apparently tended to drop away from him as a result of the recent campaign upon the alleged governmental extravagance.

Argentina Will Give Credit

Government Accorded to Request of France and Italy

Buenos Ayres, December 14.—That large stocks of Argentina grain would not be sold unless the government accorded to the request of France and Italy for a credit of $200,000,000 with which to purchase cereals, a delegation representing the chamber of commerce of Rosario, the grain center, requested President Irigoyen to expedite the loan by calling an extra session of congress. The regular session adjourned recently without acting on the loan. President Irigoyen indicated that he would endeavor to get congress as early as possible and would recommend the loan as business of the first importance.

Move to Regulate Price of Clothing

Toronto.—Immediate and effective action to regulate clothing prices was forecasted by Commissioner Murdoch of the Commerce Board, at the conclusion of the board's investigation into clothing prices here. Col. W. H. Price, government counsel, had addressed the commissioner, calling attention to evidence which he said warranted action on the part of the board, and Commissioner Murdoch replied:

"I am firmly convinced that something should be done to reduce the price of clothing, and so far as I am concerned, as one member, I will help to see something done promptly and effectively."

Commissioner Murdoch said he was convinced by Col. Price's declaration that there had been too much profit made by some of the clothing houses whose affairs had been investigated. "And I am further of the opinion," he went on, "that there is more than net profit involved, that there is real

Nationalists Capture Konieh Concerning Shipping Supervision

Apprehension That Turkish Throes May Be in Danger

Paris.—Konieh, an important railroad center, is in the hands of the Turkish nationalist troops.

This city, which in the days of Roman power was known as Iconium and was the capital of the province of Lycania, stands in a position which attracts attention to its capture. Its capture appears to be in control of the vast region stretching from Konieh to the southwest to Ezerum, the principal city of Turkish Armenia, a distance of 425 miles. It is said the fall of the Turkish cabinet was caused by the capture of Konieh, and there seems to be some apprehension in some quarters that the Turkish throne may be in danger.

On the other hand, French circles point out that Djemal Pasha, the newly appointed Turkish minister of war, is a political ally of Mustafa Kemal.

Great Britain began to withdraw her troops from Armenia in August, and it is probable this movement is now far advanced. France has forces in Syria, where it has small detachments at various points along the coast of Asia Minor.

None of these nations, however, appears to have sufficient forces to conduct a campaign in the interior of the country. Great Britain's army in Mesopotamia and in Palestine, to the east and south, seems to be too far away to intervene in the spread of the Turkish nationalist movement, led by Mustafa Kemal.

Prohibition in Norway

Despite This, Arrests for Intoxication Have Been Increasing

Christiansia.—War-time prohibition, which since 1916, and the prohibition of the sale and private importation of spirits and strong liquors has been made permanent.

Despite this prohibition, arrests for intoxication have been steadily increasing throughout the country, and in some places have been higher than before the war-time prohibition was put into effect.

Substitutes for liquor, especially denatured alcohol, are sold everywhere. Illegal distillation also is increasing, especially in the rural districts.

It is feared that France, Spain and Portugal, from which countries liquor was imported, may retaliate with a tariff on Norwegian exports, such as timber and fish, thereby injuring especially the Norwegian fish trade, 60 per cent. of which goes to Portugal.

Barrage Removed From North Sea

Washington.—Removal of the great North Sea barrage has been decided by the United States Navy during the war has been completed.

It was disclosed when Secretary of the Navy Daniels made public a cablegram of congratulation sent to the British commander, who commanded the force which since last October had been engaged in the hazardous task of sweeping the 30,000-ton mine field.

Only one serious accident attended the work, one of the sweepers being blown up with the loss of several lives.

King Albert Runs Train

Chicago.—The King of the Belgians ran the engine of his own train for ten miles. The special train on which the King and his party are travelling westward was stopped at Wauseon, Ohio, while His Majesty climbed into the cab of the engine and took over the throttle from the grimy pilot. The King, who has a thorough knowledge of locomotive engineering, ran the heavy train for 10 miles without a stop, then he stopped the engine and returned to his car.

Fatal Toll in Kansas

Holisington, Kas.—Two persons were killed and 25 injured, some of them seriously, in a tornado which struck here Sunday night. Estimated at a quarter of a million dollars, resulted when a tornado struck here and swept a path of destruction through the town, wrecking the business and residential section of the city.

Police Reach Budapest

Paris.—The arrival of 1,800 British soldiers, forming part of the international detachment to take over the police service at Budapest after the departure of the Hungarians, is reported in dispatches from the Hungarian capital. Two thousand Italian soldiers are also expected.

Amsterdam.—The former German emperor will remove from Amerongen about December 16, and take up his residence at Doorn.

Right of Provinces To Enforce Prohibition

Gen. Mangin Will Assist Deminque

He Will Be Accompanied By Russian Ambassador to Paris

Paris.—General Mangin, who recalled to Paris from command of the eighth army, has just been announced, is to proceed to south Russia and join General Denikin, the anti-Bolshevik commander there, according to L'Esclair. He will be accompanied by Basile Maklakov, Russian ambassador to Paris, his mission being to coordinate the policy of the anti-Bolshevik government.

The eighth and tenth French armies are being broken up as units, and Generals Mangin and Gerard, who commanded them, have been recalled and placed at the disposition of the minister of war. Newspapers are greatly interested in this step, and explain it differently. While the opposition press intimates that General Mangin may be out of favor, which it insists is undeserved, a majority of the newspapers declare the move is only an administrative measure resulting from the grouping of Ottoman troops in the Rhineland. It is said the eighth and tenth armies will soon be re-formed into a single corps, which will be commanded by General Degoutte.

Want Standardized Pairs

Ottawa.—The Commons' committee on agriculture received the report of the manufacturers' committee dealing with the proposal that the standardization of parts of agricultural machinery should be agreed upon in order to make it more convenient and save cost to the farmers. The report said that a great many difficulties in the way of successfully carrying out the plan.

After some discussion it was agreed not to allow the matter to drop, but to continue the discussion with the manufacturers during the parliamentary recess.

Quantity of Liquor Seized

Winipeg.—Intoxicating liquor, 750 whisky, Scotch whisky, Irish whiskey, cherry whiskey, brandy, rum and to the estimated value of $20,000 was seized by the city police in a raid on a saloon at the corner of Notre Dame avenue and Charlotte street. S. Gold, head of the firm of Gold & Chick, alleged to have been carrying on the business of wholesale bootlegging, was filling bottles with liquor, surrounded by many modern appliances to facilitate, when arrested.

His appointment will be officially made public in the Journal Officiel.

California to Entertain King Albert

Santa Barbara, Calif.—Wild boar hunting on Santa Cruz Island, sea-bird fights, motor-jumps about the city, a banquet and other features are on the program to be tendered King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium and members of their suite upon arrival here.

Increased Gratuities A Heavy Burden

Ottawa.—A further statement of the difficulties facing the government which make payment of $200,000,000 or more in gratuities a difficult matter for the administration to face, was placed before the special committee on soldiers' civil re-establishment by Sir Thomas White, former minister of finance.

The former minister of finance was calling attention to the many heavy expenditures which the government was called upon to face from the forthcoming Victory Loan. Without any new debts incurred, the major portion of this loan would be taken up in bank debt and other obligations.

"Canada's financial position," he said, "while it should not be called difficult, is still serious because of five years' war expenditure to call for most careful administration. The policy of all the nations reduced by domestic loans.

Italians Are Excited

By Warnings With Regard to Situation at Fiume

Rome.—Much excitement in political circles and extended comment in the press has been caused by the repeated receipts of warnings from Great Britain and the United States which would regard the situation at Fiume. It is believed that the British warning stated in effect that "if the present Italian situation" at Fiume should continue to exist, "run the risk of being put out of the alliance and the peace conference," and that it was received a few days after a warning from the United States.

The Tribuna prints a violent article signifying the warnings and saying that the British and American warnings should not be addressed to Italy, to D'Annunzio, as "Fiume is not Italy; it is the Adriatic." It is also in the Italian government which, together with the other allies, is unwilling to solve the Adriatic problem after the disavowal of the pact of London.

Japan to Ratify Pact

Paris.—Ratification by the Japanese parliament of the German peace treaty is not required by the constitution. The revelation of all sentences from peace conference circles. Signature by the Emperor after consultation with the private diplomatic committee constitutes the necessary ratification, and this is expected to take place by October 15.

Will Release Poles

Warsaw.—A Polish-German agreement has been signed by the Polish delegation at Berlin providing for the release of Poles interned in Germany for their military, political or national activity. The revoking of all sentences imposed on Poles and free return of the agreement which concerns Upper Silesia as well as Poland. The agreement will be in force immediately after its ratification.

In regard to the publicity warehouse, etc., and subsequent suit against the village (which later was dropped), the follow-many:

planned for this afternoon. Correspondence conflicted at 341
Notre Dame avenue, the place already has already led to the arrest of another member of the gang, it is alleged.

Rye whiskey, Scotch whiskey,
Irish whiskey, cherry whiskey, gin, brandy, rum and a number of other fancy mixtures, were seized by the city police, Wednesday night in the basement of the corner of Charlotte street.
The seizure is valued at more than $20,000.

Solomon Gold, head of the firm of Gold & Chihik, which is alleged to have been carrying on the business of wholesale bootleggers, appeared in the police court today, charged with a breach of the Temperance act. No plea was entered, the case being adjourned until next Thursday.

Abraham Phillips, 315 Dufferin avenue, appeared on a similar charge and was remanded for one week. The police say he is another member of the ring.
Ten gallons of whiskey and 20 quart bottles of liquor were seized at his place Wednesday night, following correspondence taken at 341 Notre Dame, they say. He is alleged to have been buying the liquor from Gold & Chihik, and to have been selling it for himself.

Gold, admitted to bail after his arrest, returned to his home to find that the provincial liquor inspectors had raided the place of his partner, Moses Chihik, 380 Boyd Avenue. Liquor and a bottling machine were found on the premises, it is alleged.
The difference between the whiskey and the gin, and the various other bottles named, constituted principally in the shape of the bottle, the label, the flavoring extract, the cork and the capsule. There were all kinds of labels, many of the most expensive and pretentious design: "Finest Old Rye Whisky—fully ripened in wood and bottled under the most hygienic conditions," one read.

This was surmounted by a golden crown and the letters were in gold, black and red. The capsules were of the finest manufacture, and everything appeared perfect but the liquor itself. This, Inspector Eddie declared, to be the "rottenest of the rotten family."

Load after load of liquors in barrels and bottles were taken to the Central police station, together with the appliances in connection with the "manufacture," bottling, corking and labelling of the intoxicants.

E. J. Boswell, has vacated the Anglican Church Yearbook and taken up his residence with his family in the A. J. Wright cottage. It is understood that bi-monthly services of the Anglican Church are to be held here, shortly. The vicarage will be needed for the visiting pastor.

Change in C.P.R. train service, effective October 12, did not affect the local service.
Both east and west trains run on the same schedules as have been in force all summer.

The Herald, Hanna, reports that C.N.R. will soon inaugurate a service over the Hanna-Medicine Hat line. Two mixed trains per week will be run as far as mileage 25 and one train

Preserving Fruits at Lowest Prices

EVERY one of the nation's leading half subscribers to Canada's Victory Magazine knows that he can sell them today for more than he paid for them.

Over half a million Canadians who bought Canada's Victory Bonds on the instalment plan saved money that they would not otherwise have saved.

Canada's Victory Bonds will always be accepted as security for a loan.

Canada's Victory Bonds may be turned into cash at any time.

Canada will soon give her citizens an opportunity to buy Victory Bonds 1919. It will probably be the last chance to buy Canada's Victory Bonds on such favorable terms.

Victory Loan 1919

Victory Loan 1919 Campaign Has Started

[illegible]

It will help trade. Every farmer should be a booster for the Victory Loan, for upon it depends the sale of his crop at the good price he is negotiating for it today. If the Victory Loan kills the crop movement must cease; if the Victory Loan succeeds the crop will move out and the money will be in the hands of the farmer. If it will increase prosperity, Canada should subscribe about a billion dollars to its own Victory Loans, and every time it has put over a loan the bank savings throughout the Dominion greatly increased. Subscriptions to the Victory Loan is the best way to get money with our hands and taking it out of the hands of our enemies.

The Victory Loan has no politics. Following is a letter from Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, to Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, which shows the country is united on behalf of the loan. A dispatch from Ottawa says:

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—Thorough endorsement of the Victory Loan 1915, is expected by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party in the Dominion, in a letter addressed to the minister of finance, Sir Henry Drayton. This is his letter:

"My dear Sir Henry:

"I am pleased to join with you in commending the Victory Loan to the people of Canada.

"It is imperative that Canada's credit should be maintained.
"As the government finds that borrowing is a necessity to meet existing conditions, it is in every way desirable that the amount required should, if possible, be raised within Canada itself. I hope, therefore, that this loan may be over-subscribed by citizens of the Dominion.
"You appreciate, of course, that

In expressing a desire that you should win the loan a success, I have no obligation as I may have in the matter of criticism. I have no unnecessary or extravagant public expenditures in increased rather than lessened; and that this endorsement is given upon your assurance that the organization of the campaign and everything about it is absolutely and entirely non-political.

Yours sincerely,
J. H. (J. H.)
"KENNIE KING."

A light of satisfaction was in his teacher's eyes as Dave made this answer. Mr. Duncan had realized that he was staring late with this pupil, and if there were any short cuts to education he must find them. So he had set out deliberately to find the idea that education is not a matter of schools and colleges, or courses of reading, or formalism of any kind, but a matter of the five senses applied to every experience of life. And he knew that nothing was coarse or common that passed through Dave's hands. Coal had ceased to be a smutty mineral, and had taken on the ultimate qualities suggested by the mere animal workman and sugar, and coffee, and beans, and rice, and spices, each would open its own wonderful world before his eyes, and fertile mind. As an heritage from his boyhood on the ranges, Dave had astonishingly alert senses; his sight, his hearing, his sense of touch and of touch were vastly more acute than those of the average university graduate. . . . And if that were true, might it not fairly be said that Dave was already the better educated of the two, even if he, as yet, knew nothing of the classics?

As Dave parted from the McFarron gang he felt that he knew what Mr. Duncan had meant by the dead-line. These were men who would always shovel coal, because they aspired to nothing better. There was no atom of nobility in Dave's nature; he knew perfectly well that shovelling coal was quite as honorable and respectable a means of livelihood as managing a bank, but the man who was content to shovel coal was on the dead-line. . . . And, by the same logic, the man who was content to manage a bank was on the dead-line. That was a new and startling aspect of life. He must discuss it with Mr. Duncan.

Dave's energy and enthusiasm in the warehouse soon brought him promotion from truck hand to shipping clerk, with an advance in wages to sixty-five dollars a month. He was prepared to remain in this position for some time, as he knew that promotion depends on many things besides ability. Mr. Duncan had warned him against the delusion that man is entirely master of his destiny. Life, my boy, he had said, "is fifty per cent. environment and forty per cent. heredity. That other ten per cent. is yours. But the other ten per cent. is like the steering gear in an automobile; it's only a small part of the mechanism, but it directs the course of the whole machine. Get a good grip on the part of your life you can control, and don't worry over the rest."

To economize both time and money Dave took his lunch with him and ate it in the warehouse. He had also become possessed of a pocket encyclopedia and it was his habit to employ the minutes saved by eating lunch in the warehouse man reading from his encyclopedia. It chanced one day that as he was reading in the noon hour, a messenger from the firm, came through the warehouse. Dave knew him but little; he thought of him as a stern, unapproachable man, and avoided him as much as possible. But this time Mr. Trapper was upon him before he was seen.

"What are you reading?" he demanded. "Yellow backed nonsense?" "No sir," said Dave, rising and extending his arm with the book.

"Why, what's this?" queried Mr. Trapper, in some surprise. "Tea-ten oh, I see, it's an encyclopedia. What is the idea of your man reading from his encyclopedia? It chanced one day that as he was reading in the noon hour, a messenger from the firm, came through the warehouse. Dave knew him but little; he thought of him as a stern, unapproachable man, and avoided him as much as possible. But this time Mr. Trapper was upon him before he was seen.

"That young fellow on the shipping desk—Elden, I think his name is. How do you find him?"

"Very satisfactory, sir. Punctual, dependable, and accurate."

"Watch him," said Mr. Trapper. The manager gazing around at his chair. "Why, what do you mean? You haven't occasion to suspect—"

Mr. Trapper's customary sternness slowly relaxed, until there came the suggestion of a smile about the corners of his mouth, and rather more than a suggestion in the twinkling of an eye. "Do you know what I taught that young fellow doing during noon hour?" he asked. "Reading up encyclopedias," he said. "Ten, mind you. Said he made a practice of reading up on the stuff we are handling. We mind you. Found it very interesting to know where it came from and all about it. I've been in the grocery business for pretty close to forty years, and I've seen many an employee spend his noon hour in the pool room, or in some other back room, or, worse, smoking, but this is the first one I ever caught reading up the business in an encyclopedia. Never read it that way myself. Well— you catch him. I'd like a ten-spot that he knows more about tea this minute than half of our travellers."

But Dave was not to continue in the grocery trade, despite his reading of the encyclopedia. A few evenings later he was engaged in reading in the public library; not an encyclopedia, but Shakespeare. The encyclopedia was for such time as he could save from business hours, reading Mr. Duncan. Dave had directed him into the realm of fiction and poetry, and he was now feeling his way through Hamlet. From the kindness of his boyhood he had developed the habit of talking aloud to himself, and in abstracted moments he read in an audible whisper which impressed the substance more deeply on his mind, but made him unpopular in the public reading room. It was well known among the patrons of the room that he read Hamlet. This fact, however, may not have been altogether to Dave's disadvantage. On the evening in question an elderly man engaged him in conversation.

"You are a Shakespeare student, I see?"

"Not exactly. I read a little in the evenings. But I haven't gone far enough to call myself a student."

"I have read you here, and I am sure. Are you well acquainted with the town?"

"Pretty well," said Dave, seeing that there might be a purpose in the questioning.

Working now?

Dave told him where he was employed.

"I am the editor of 'The Call,'" said the elderly man. "We need another man on the street a reporter, you know. We pay twenty-five dollars a week for such a position. If you are interested you might call on Mr. Duncan. I think I'd like the work," he said. "But I am not sure whether I can do it. My writing is rather wonderful."

Mr. Duncan turned the matter over to his mind. "Yes," he said at length. "But I notice you are beginning to use the typewriter. When you learn that you gave you ten fingers, not two, you may make a try at it. And there is nothing more worth while than being able to express yourself in English. They'll teach you that

On a newspaper, I think I'd like it. "Not on account of the money," he continued, after a little. "You would probably soon be earning more from the wholesale business. Newspaper men are about the worst paid of all professions. But it's the best training for the world, not for itself, but for a step to something else. I have often wondered why editors, who are forever setting every other phase of the world's work to rights, are content to train up so many thousands of bright young men—and then pass them along into other businesses where they are better paid. But the training is worth while, and it's the training you want. Take it."

Dave explained his disadvantages to the editor of "The Call." I didn't want you to think, he said, with great frankness, "that because I was a Greek Shakespeare I was a man of English. And I guess if I were to write up just in Hamlet's language I'd get called for it."

"We'd probably have a denunciation from the Moral Reform League," said the editor, with a dry smile. "Just the same, if you know Shakespeare, you know English, and you soon break you into the Shakespeare style."

So, almost before he knew it, Dave was on the staff of "The Call." He beat comprised the police court, fire department, hotels, and general public. And the very day he was told to afford help for his genius, a small fire occurred in a clothing store.

Dave's good for two sticks—about four inches," said the editor, who had Dave given him the main facts. "Write your story to fit."

Dave suddenly realized that, although he had been a persistent reader of newspapers during the recent months, he had scarcely the remotest idea of how many words went to a column, or to an inch. It was a piece of information needed at once, so he set about to count the words in a column. Then he wrote his story to fit. He had already learned that

"But I notice you are beginning to use the typewriter. When you learn that you gave you ten fingers, not two, you may make a try at it. And there is nothing more worth while than being able to express yourself in English. They'll teach you that everything in a newspaper office, from a wedding to a ball game, is a story. When he turned back, he looked like this:

The fire bell was ringing this morning about ten o'clock, and soon after crowds were seen moving away to the Great West Clothing Store. There the fire had broken out, smoke coming from the back end of the store. The firemen were late in getting there, and before they arrived a man had got badly choked by being pulled into the fire. The fire engine came up and before long water was being applied in great quantities, and soon the fire was under control. Part of the roof fell in, but the fire had not been reported in that section. Nobody seems to know how the fire started.

It was with much quiet excitement that he awaited the appearance of the evening edition. He had a strange eagerness to see his contribution in print, a manifestation, no doubt, of that peculiar trait in the human nature which fills the editorial waste basket with unaccepted contributions.

A Pioneer Of Aviation

Alberto Santos Dumont first Pilot to Fly an Aeroplane

To many readers the name Alberto Santos Dumont will be unfamiliar, and yet it is the name of one of the most successful pioneers in aviation. He is a native of Brazil, and has been president of the Aeronautic Federation of the Western Hemisphere. He is now visiting North America for the purpose of studying the improvements made in aviation since he observed the world's first aeroplane, the first pilot of a dirigible balloon, and the first to fly an airplane. His interest in balloons developed at an early age, and in 1890 he had purchased a dirigible with which he won at Paris the prize of $50,000. He made a climb of 10,000 feet, and was the first to fly in 1904 and received the officers' cross in 1909.

"Flying," said Santos Dumont in a recently given interview, "is a young man's game, and I will do my flying now as a passenger." He characterized the Atlantic flight as "wonderful achievements," but said the real progress in aviation is being made in shorter and more practical flights.

"Where is the Dead Sea, Tommy?" asked the teacher.

"Don't know, ma'am," was the candid reply.

"Don't know where the Dead Sea is?" came the teacher's voice.

"No ma'am," came the reply. "I didn't even know any of them was sick."

"Teacher: 'How do bees dispose of their honey?'"

"Clever Pupil: 'They call it 'S.O.S.'"

"S.O.S."

If Constipated, Bilious or Headachy, take "Cascarets"

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, or sour, gassy stomach always trace this to constipation. Indigestion, fermenting food in the bowels, poisonous matter clings to the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you up by morning. They work while you sleep.

Buy's Drilling Plant

The Great West Natural Gas Company of Calgary have purchased the California oil well drilling plant owned at Estevan by a local syndicate, and it is reported that they are moving it to the field which they have selected for the purpose of supplying natural gas to Moose Jaw and Regina. The plant is said to be one of the best of its kind, and is capable of drilling to a depth of 5,000 feet.

Repatriate Huns Soon

Fortis—All German prisoners still detained in France will be repatriated direct, after the ratification of the peace treaty, according to information received from Berlin. The Swiss legation in Paris, it is stated, sent information to this effect to the central office for prisoners of war for transmission to Germany.

"I must have. I always go back to the same dentist."

Nationalist Troops Expel Turk Officials

Possession of Konie Is of Great Strategic Importance

Constantinople—The troops under the Nationalist leader, Mustafa Kemal Pasha, who recently set up a separatist government in Asia Minor, have occupied the city of Konie, in southern Asia Minor, and expelled the authorities.

Earlier dispatches had reported the convoking of a separatist parliament by Mustafa Kemal to meet at Erzerum, the site of his government, and activities of his troops in the vicinity of Smyrna and Erzerum. The presence of his troops in sufficient strength to take possession of Konie, a city of 45,000 inhabitants and one of the most important administrative centres of Asia Minor, had not hitherto been reported in that section. Possession of this city is of great strategic importance, since it is the railroad of the railroads heading from Constantinople and from Smyrna.

Canada's Railways

There are 39,000 miles of steam railways in Canada, but if all tracks be taken into account, such as double tracks, yard tracks and sidings, there are 59,853 miles. The first railway in Canada was opened in 1836 between Lacapraire on the south bank of the St. Lawrence River, in nine miles above Montreal, and St. John, on the Richelieu River. Its length was 16 miles. That continued to be the total railway mileage until 1847 when it was increased to 54 miles.

"Where is the Dead Sea, Tommy?" asked the teacher.

"Don't know, ma'am," was the candid reply.

"Don't know where the Dead Sea is?" came the teacher's voice.

"No ma'am," came the reply. "I didn't even know any of them was sick."

"Teacher: 'How do bees dispose of their honey?'"

"Clever Pupil: 'They call it 'S.O.S.'"

"S.O.S."

If Constipated, Bilious or Headachy, take "Cascarets"

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, or sour, gassy stomach always trace this to constipation. Indigestion, fermenting food in the bowels, poisonous matter clings to the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you up by morning. They work while you sleep.

Buy's Drilling Plant

The Great West Natural Gas Company of Calgary have purchased the California oil well drilling plant owned at Estevan by a local syndicate, and it is reported that they are moving it to the field which they have selected for the purpose of supplying natural gas to Moose Jaw and Regina. The plant is said to be one of the best of its kind, and is capable of drilling to a depth of 5,000 feet.

Britain's Best Mind

Of the new British ambassador to the United States, A. G. Gardiner writes in the Toronto Daily News:

"In Lord Grey we are sending to America the best mind of the nation; not a cunning mind, nor a clever mind, but a mind noble in its disinterested purpose, spacious of vision, moved as only great souls can be moved by the agony of these years and inspired by the single idea of rescuing the world from the pit into which it has fallen, and it is to America that we need most to send such a messenger, such a witness of our goodwill, such an assurance of our good faith."

BOVRIL

Bovril is one of the most precious food substances in the world. Its beneficial effects are immediate; it acts like a glass of champagne, but without the reaction which wine sometimes brings. Bovril does permanent good by building up the very fabric of the body.

To get the full benefit of Bovril, take it regularly day after day. The value of "a course of Bovril" has been scientifically demonstrated by the independent investigations of Professor Thompson.

After bringing human subjects to a constant weight on a plain diet, he added Bovril to the other food, and found the body-building powers of Bovril to be to 20 times the amount taken.

A Happy Family

BY DR. C. C. DOWNS.

A happy family is one that can sit down to the table with keen appetites and good cheer. Plenty of the out-of-doors and cleanliness, inside and outside of the body, will make for health, wealth and happiness. Your doctor will tell you that anything from a headache to the most serious illness may result from allowing food to ferment in the intestines. The first thing to do in case you feel mean, loopy, dull, perhaps feverish, is to flush the liver and kidneys, drink plenty of water, and take a dose of castor oil, or, something better, made of May-apple, aloin and jalap, and long sold by almost every druggist as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. This may save you from a fit of sickness, remove the poisons from the system and give the tissues of the body a chance to build up and resist disease.

People are realizing more and more that the kidneys, just as do the bowels, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly working, separating the poisons from the blood. Uric acid backs up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances.

This can be avoided by stimulating the kidneys to increased action, and because of its tonic effect on these organs I would advise any one to get Anuric (anti-uric-acid) which is to be had nowadays for fifty cents, at almost any drug store.

The average married man has kept on the job; he has fed and clothed his family somehow; he has done his full share in buying bonds and sticking away thrift stamps and in giving to all the war causes, he has plucked and economized, taken on extra hours in the home garden; he has done his duty in the usual bravely, loyally, patiently, nobly. The biggest thing about him is that he hasn't been killed. He hasn't been threatened and menaced; he hasn't bombed or been shelled; he hasn't been over-compassed. He has, indeed, borne the middle of the big load and been a good citizen about it. He is not a white flag of a hero than some other whose name has been more spectacular and whose suffering has been more sanguine—Savannah News.

Laugh When People Step On Your Feet
Try this yourself then pass it along to others. It works!

On Feb. 12 1913 This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people would only read and follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called frezzone when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once, and soon the corn dries up and lifts right off without pain. He says frezzone is an ether compound which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissue or skin. A quarter of an ounce of frezzone will cost very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from our feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels.

Blacking houses are probably to stand down in advance.

If you suffer from asthma try it and convince yourself of its great value.

To Dig Out

Prices Will Fall When Production Is Increased
There is only one sure way to cut down the cost of living. Prices will fall when production is increased. With larger supply of what everybody needs to eat, drink and wear, and for shelter there will be concurrent drop of cost to the consumer. At the same time there is brought about an equivalent rise in the wages of labor. To stop work is to decrease production. Having endured the war we must now begin the work of repair. One little word of three letters shows the way out of the world dilemma. That word is "dig"—From the Philadelphia Record.

The sneer of the jealous fool is apt to proclaim the wise man's merit.

She Let Him Choose
She: What an atrocious necktie! I wouldn't trust you to select anything, you have so little taste.

She: You think you did, but you didn't really.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE
Can Only Find Relief By Enriching the Blood
Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with acid and impurities, thus setting in motion the acids in the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather of autumn may start the tortures of rheumatism but is not the cause. The cause is in the blood and the blood only. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints, followed by sharp pains through the flesh and muscles; these are the symptoms of poison in the blood which may shortly leave the victim pain-racked and helpless.

There is only one way to cure rheumatism, and that is to purify the blood. Liniments, hot applications, and rubbing may give temporary ease, but cannot possibly root the trouble out of the system. That can only be done by the rich red blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make. This new blood drives out the poisonous acids and impurities, and the rheumatism disappears. If you are a sufferer from this painful malady begin curing yourself to-day by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and see how soon the pains and stiffness of the joints fade away, leaving behind new energy and new health.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Indians Kill Game Out of Season

Regina, Sask.—An accusation that Indians are killing off big game out of season is made by F. Bradshaw, chief game guardian for Saskatchewan, who states that the toll taken illegally by the redskins during the past few years is jeopardizing the existence of some of the finest fawns on the North American continent.

While the Indians rarely hunt big game during the open season, they are shooting down moose and elk during the months of August, September and October, when they are easily lured to destruction by the use of a call. The department has received numerous complaints of the activities of the Indians in recent years, and investigation proves that in nearly every instance the allegations are fully substantiated.

The Land Of The Sealane

The Scandinavians Feel Attracted To The Flying Boat

The crecks and fords of Scandinavia, from which the Vikings derived their name, appear to be going to play an important part in the history of the country as they did in ancient days. Scandinavia by her natural formation and pre-eminence is a local centre and pre-eminence so that it was with particular interest that the citizens of the three kingdoms watched the successful flight of the British seaplane which, only the other day, flew to Christiansburg from Dundee and then went on in stages to Christiansburg, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Gothenburg, Esbjerg, and then back to the east coast of England.

The Scandinavians are a seafaring people and they see any number of seaplane harbors dotting their land. There, in Sweden, is a natural seaplane lake, Vattum and Vattum, the Gotha canal and any number of lagoons and lakelets. As for Norway, she is magnificently well off in the matter of fjords and all the large towns of Denmark are approachable by water. The British flying boat in the North Sea performed the somewhat remarkable feat of arriving at the scheduled time and landing only two miles away from the intended "landfall" on the Norwegian coast, although it had thick mist and clouds to contend with all the way.

Which Are The Seven Seas?

That there is magic and mystery in numbers is an ancient tale, and the fact is confirmed by a correspondent asking: "Which are the seven seas?" Upon inquiry, there appears to be a common consensus as to six of the seven, these being the Atlantic, the Arctic, Antarctic, Pacific, Mediterranean, and Indian. And just as the ancients, agreeing on six, were divided upon the seventh wonder of the world (some voting for the Pyramids of Egypt, others for the Palace of Cyrus), so there is doubt as to whether the seventh sea be the Baltic or the North Sea.
